

Brown Bear Is Hungry

Brown bear is very hungry so he went out to look for some food. As he was walking along he saw his friend Sammy the squirrel. Sammy had some corn and shared it with bear, but bear was still hungry, so he continued on his walk to look for food.

As Brown bear was walking along he saw his friend gray mouse. Gray mouse was about to fall asleep inside a cornucopia. Gray squirrel had eaten most of the food that was inside it. He saw brown bear and told him he could have the acorns that were left. Brown bear was so hungry he ate them in one big gulp, but bear was still hungry, so he continued on his walk to look for food.

This story also includes the printable pages shown below. Print out the brown bear so the children can feed him the foods in the story. Print out the brown bear or the black and white bear and color him brown. Print out the foods and cut the foods apart.

Please note: If you have purchased our November preschool curriculum (for ages 2.5 to 6 years) this story is included in the curriculum, it will be found in week 4, Thanksgiving week.

Otherwise you can purchase it separately to use with the children in your care. You can find the book and activities on our blog page or our book page.

You can also go to our video page, click the video link from our home page, and you can see Staci, who works at adaycare.com reading the entire story on video.
