You will need: white heavy paper such as white cardstock paper, small plate, red, yellow, blue, brown, white and green construction paper or cardstock paper, red, yellow, blue, brown, white and green pompoms and markers or crayons and scissors.

Activity: This is a fun circle time activity that teaches the children their colors, or for children that know some of their colors this is a great way to review colors with the children in a fun way.

Place all the pompoms into a small cloth bag or pillowcase and have the children take turns picking one pompom from the bag, see if they can tell you what color pompom they are holding in their hand and then have them match up the pompom by color the starfish have them place the pompom on the circle that is the same color that is in front of the starfish.

Directions: You will need to print out the starfish; you may want to print them onto cardstock paper. You will need 6 markers or crayons in the colors of red, yellow, blue, brown, white and green and then color each of the starfish a different color.

You will need 6 sheets of construction paper in the colors of red, yellow, blue, brown, white and green. Place these sheets on top of each other. Place a small plate onto the top of the 6 sheets of construction paper and trace around it, now remove the plate and carefully pick up all 6 sheets of paper and cut around the circle.

Now set the six colored circles side by side onto a low table or onto the floor. You will need 3 toilet paper rolls and cut them in half and then tape one starfish to each toilet paper roll so they will stand up. Place the starfish by color in front of the matching paper circles.

You will need 2 or 3 pompoms of each color. The colors that you will need are red, yellow, blue, brown, white and green and place these into a small cloth bag or pillowcase.

If you don't have all six colors above of pompoms or construction paper then use the colors that you do have.

Printer Note: Set your printer to print page 2.
